

AUN Mobile Classroom, East-West 2016
Strengthening ASEAN towards Sustainable Development through Community Engagement

Mahidol University, Thailand

November 8-10, 2016

1. Background

The Mobile classroom is initiated at AUN's first meeting in October 2015. The member universities agreed upon establishing a camp where university students from different ASEAN countries can meet and build cross-cultural relationships. To help students learn about other cultures, each country takes turn in hosting the camp. Each year, two countries have the opportunity to host two separate mobile classrooms. One of them is on Route 1 which covers Singapore, Malaysia, and Thailand. The other is on Route 2 which covers Thailand, Vietnam, Cambodia, Lao PDR, and Myanmar. For the year 2016, Mahidol university of Thailand takes responsibility for holding a mobile classroom for Route 2. The program will therefore promote Thai cultures and the practice of sufficiency economy influenced by His Majesty King Bhumibol Adulyadej.

2. Purposes

- 1) To make young people realize about the ongoing regional integration of the Southeast Asian nations.
- 2) To provide an environment where they can learn to get along with people from diverse cultural backgrounds.
- 3) To increase their understanding about sustainable development and sufficiency economy.
